

Gary McEwan

Gary has extensive leadership experience and has led remote based teams for 3 FTSE 100 Companies over the past two decades, including UK wide Financial Services teams and supply chains. He is an EMCC Certified Coach Practitioner and works with executives, senior leaders and talented individuals at all levels.

He has significant experience working across both private and public sectors, including not for profit organisations, Policing and the NHS. In addition, he provides international coaching via the highly regarded Executive Programme for Global Health Leadership run by the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

Gary has experienced a host of leadership scenarios including large scale restructures, outsourcing, change programmes, performance management, creating high performing teams and developing people. One of his key skills is communication and he has led national conferences as well as appearing in live interviews on national television and radio. Gary enjoys working with individuals and teams virtually or face to face to help them unlock personal and business potential enabling far greater levels of performance and fulfilment.

Gary's specialist areas

- Leadership and Executive Coaching
- Leading remote based / virtual teams
- Creating high performing teams
- Imposter Syndrome/ Confidence
- Leading change and transition
- Influencing and stakeholder management

What people say about working with Gary

"Gary has an understanding approach and we focused on dealing with conflict and collaborative working. The outcome was a new way of being and I now empower others to take responsibility, allowing them to grow. His experience shone through."

Gary's LinkedIn Profile

